Street Fair Meeting.

Another meeting was held at the Opera House Wednesday evening to hear reports of committees on grounds and charter. The charter project was rejected, the committee reporting unfavorably.

The committee on grounds reported that they could secure the Welhausen pasture opposite the Catholic church for the roping contest and on motion it was then decided to have the contest. On motion, A. J. Voelkel, Philip Welhausen and R. G. Flato, were added to the committee on roping contest, with full power to transact all business.

A motion was put and carried that the chair appoint an executive committee of five. The chair reserved the appointment until the next meeting.

On motion a committee of three consisting of P. Welhausen, C. K. Holchak and R. G. Flato, were appointed on advertising and to secure lithographs at once.

On motion the meeting adjourned till Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

The Street Fair meeting called for Sunday morning, failed to materialize, and Chairman Eschenburg has called another meeting for next Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and urges everybody to attend.

Chairman Eschenburg has appointed the following gentlemen on the executive committee: M. E. Wolters, Earl Fry, E. J. Wagemann, Louis Wagoner and O. H. Deutsch, and requests that all be present at the Sunday morning meeting.
